

editoriale

editorial

Dear readers,

I'm writing this editorial just now, as the new issue is about to hit the press, just a few hours before the press conference presenting the "ACCP Golden Edition Show - A dog for friends," held in the Chamber of Commerce in Vercelli.

There were many reporters from daily newspapers, and local press, for both radio and TV, along with representatives from public institutions who appreciate and support our initiative.

Therefore the event will have great media visibility. Moreno Buffa and I have emphasized that the events we organize go beyond choosing the best looking dog; their goal is rather to strengthen the Man-Dog relationship. Because it is only through a perfect understanding, consolidated day by day, that you may achieve the feeling that really makes the difference in the contest ring.

The subtitle for the event, "A dog for friends," will also be celebrated with two side events: the Junior Handler competition and the Military Police Canine Unit (the Carabinieri Volpiano division) show. The dogs on the team are specialized in explosive and drug seeking. Thus proving dogs, are not only wonderful companions, but they are also great collaborators. We are deeply satisfied that such important messages and our entire philosophy can actually be broadcasted to the greater audience and not have to stay only among "Canidapresa" readers.

I seize this opportunity to wish you and your families
A Merry Christmas and a serene 2012.

Roberta Albanesi
Editor in Chief of Canidapresa Magazine

Roberta Albanesi,
Editor in Chief of Canidapresa, with Urania Alien Hunter, a wonderful
Staffordshire Bull
Terrier puppy,
property of Urania
kennel Picture by:
A&B Photodesign